Potentially Inappropriate Medication Use for Older Adults American Geriatrics Society Releases 2023 Recommendations

POTENTIALLY INAPPROPRIATE MEDICATIONS FOR OLDER ADULTS

We are excited to announce the updated AGS Beers Criteria for potentially inappropriate medication use in older adults. This important resource provides healthcare providers with guidance on medication use in older adults, helping to prevent adverse drug events and improve overall quality of care. The updated criteria include new medications to avoid or use with caution in older adults, as well as changes to existing recommendations. By following these guidelines, healthcare providers can ensure the safe and effective use of medications in older adults.
